People Want to Know What You Know, & They'll Pay For It

A community of skill Seekrs looking for fitness sessions, beauty tips, tutoring, culinary technique, home improvement advice and more. So if you've got some knowledge, you've got a money maker. Forget creating and uploading awkward tutorial videos, these are one-to-one, real conversations making it easy for you to chat things through, gauge what level they're at and genuinely help them.

Turn Your Downtime Into $$$

Taking a break, travelling, just need something to do in the evenings? You decide your own availability on SKILLR with no minimum or maximum commitments so you can turn any moment into money, sharing your skills and knowledge with someone in a video call.

Meet Interesting People & Teach Them

Teaching a skill helps you get even better at it but also, it's fun. You get to meet people from all over and genuinely help them out by simply sharing the things you know. For most, being a Skillr isn't just about the money, it's also about the enjoyment.

Reach New Clients For Your Business

Whether you're a personal trainer or a tech support pro, you can only find so many clients locally. Now SKILLR opens up a channel for you to get new and regular one-to-one clients from anywhere in the world. Or use it to supplement your business with a new kind of service.
